RECENT OPERATIONS

By Paul Rardin

"If I were mayor of Canal Point I'd start a move to have some of the holes in the streets filled up even if I had to do some of the hauling myself. If whoever is responsible for the condition of Conner's highway north of Canal Point could hear some of my remarks while driving over the detestable piece of road I'll bet their faces would be red. If I belonged to a certain group of fishermen in Pahokee I'd practice telling the story always the same. If you think we have mosquitoes here, I think you should visit the Lake Region you should visit the East Coast sometime. If I wanted to have a real vacation I'd spend it visiting the beauty spots of Florida.

Actual construction has at last started on the new golf course at Port Mayaca. I hope that it won't be many months until we can hear the familiar yell of the golfer. Much time and money is being spent by the group back of the movement and I believe the community should lend a helping hand in every way possible to see that it is carried to a successful conclusion. A little moral support will go a long way when a project of this kind is under way and I believe we should all do our part for something that is for the betterment of the community in which we live.

Another election! Next Tuesday Pahokee is going to have an election to find out whether or not to build a new sidewalk. A lot of folks seem to have the idea that in case the election carries and the sidewalks are built that taxes are to be boosted. That isn't the way the thing works. The cost of the sidewalks will be paid by those who have property abutting on the sidewalks. Therefore, there can be no good reason why the election shouldn't carry since the major portion of those who will be taxed in front of which the sidewalks will be built are in favor of the proposition.

Many more men grading belts than have ever been in operation will be ready when the first of the fall crop comes in. Experience during the past season proved that beans which went over the belts brought more money and it is only a matter of time until this of this detestable product going out of the Lake Region will be graded. After all it is a quality product. That Everglades farmers desire to be in the market and to grade their beans is the one way to produce a quality pack.

Since the Rotary club and Prof. H. L. Speer have gotten together and worked out a plan whereby palm trees will be planted on the roadside between Canal Point and the first river bridge over the lake on the Belle Glade road I wonder how many people there will be to pour cold water on this proposition. Right now I can't think of any reason why they should but I'll wager that Coca Cola that before the plan is carried out that there will be somebody "agin it."

NEW CAFE OPEN IN CANAL POINT

Tomorrow morning will bring the opening of Canal Point's newest cafe—the Cottage Lunch which is being operated by Mrs. W. S. Cross in the building formerly occupied by W. N. Parker near the bridge. Mrs. Cross has had the entire building completely renovated and redecorated inside. The furniture has been painted and linoleum laid on the floor. She states that she will serve made family style, as well as quick lunches and sandwiches. Soft drinks, cigars and tobacco will also be carried in stock.

MacWilliams Co. Bids Lowest In Caloosahatchee Project

Their Bid of $635,855.50 Lowest Offered by Any of the Contractors

The MacWilliams Dredging company of Chicago, Ill., submitted the lowest bid opened by the District U. S. Engineer office in Jacksonville Monday for construction of Division Seven of the Caloosahatchee River from Moore Haven to the present Lock No. 2, about five miles up the river from LaBelle. Their bid on the entire project was $635,855.50 or a price per cubic yard of .0973.

This bid was more than two hundred thousand dollars less than that of the next bidder on the job as a whole, the Arundel corporation, which made a bid of $840,000. Third in line was the Sternberg Dredging corporation of St. Louis with a bid of $800,000.

The three contractors mentioned above were the only bidders on the job as a whole aside from the government bid which was considerably higher. The MacWilliams bid was the lowest per cubic yard and $11.16. Several other contractors made bids on one or more sections of the three section job but in no instance did the bid come below one or two successful bidders. Included in these other companies bidding were Atlantic Dredging Co., Lakeland; Clark Dredging company of Miami; Paul Smith, of Haines City; Hill Dredging company of Atlantic City; Spadaro Dredging company and two Louisiana firms, Valley Construction company and Williams and Pierce.

Of this group of contractors only the MacWilliams made such a low bid and three sections and expressed their willingness to take all three sections in the event they were awarded the job. The bid was approved by the Washington office of the Army Engineers and returned to the MacWilliams office before a contract may be let. This usually requires about a week unless for some reason the awarding of the contract is held up.

Within thirty days after the awarding of the contract the contractor must have started work on the project. It is believed that the bid will start even sooner than the thirty day period allowed. The MacWilliams company has been at work on the project since the present time engaged in constructing a stretch of levee between Canal Point and the first river bridge over the lake, which they sub-contracted from the Arundel corporation. They have several large draglines and the company will no doubt divide their machinery for a time between the Moore Haven and Canal Point jobs.

Most of the work will probably be done with draglines although it is said that a section of the work across Lake Hitchcock will probably have to be done with the hydraulic dredge because of the mud and quicksand in the bed of the lake. It is rumored that MacWilliams company will subcontract a portion of the work but the rumor has not been confirmed. Approximately six and a half million cubic yards of material are to be dredged from the river in this section in widening and deepening the channel to permit a faster flow of water, better drainage and flood control. 420 calendar days are allowed for the completion of the work from the date the contract is officially awarded.

There was no such word as
DEPENDABILITY
until Dodge taught the world what it means

On an eventful day in 1914, the first Dodge was created, giving the world an entirely new concept of motor car value.

Here, for the first time, was a car of unlimited ruggedness, a car that required in manufacturing a motor car that it be a god motor car.

Here was a car that gave motorists quality and performance, a car that opened a new epoch in motoring. In it were the intangible properties, the indefinable mottle that inevitably stamp the product of genius.

Dodge was powerful—sturdy. A car built to stand the test of months and miles and give its users honest, never-failing service.

There existed no single word adequate to describe this car. No set phrase could typify its merit. Then the goodness of the product inspired the word "dependability" and instantly the world took it up, passed it from lip to lip, until that one word came to be the symbol of all that the name Dodge implied.

Today, others use this word, make use of its implication. But in the public mind, Dodge and Dependability will ever be inseparable, because three million Dodge owners are massed testimony to the fact that dependability is more than a word—it is a tradition, an underlying principle, that for 21 years has governed the creation of every Dodge car and Dodge truck.

During all these years, the ideal of making the Dodge name always mean dependability, has enlisted the finest efforts of progress in the engineering and manufacturing organization, and ingrained its spirit in the able and friendly Dodge dealers who serve you.

DEPENDABILITY

THE word "dependability" first appeared in Dodge's advertising. It was a beautiful word and it immediately became a household word. It was the word that was wanted by the people who were looking for a car that would stand the test of time and miles. It was the word that was wanted by the people who were looking for a car that would give them honest, never-failing service.
